EMPRESS FOR MORE FIGHTING

DEFIES THE ALLIES OF EUROPE

She Announces Her Policy to Be No Peace—Issues An Edict of Defiance and Calls Upon the Viceroys to Avenge the Wrongs of China.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Shanghai, Sept. 5.—The Empress Dowager defies the allied armies of Europe. She will have no peace.

An edict of defiance signed by the Empress at Tai-Tuan-Fu, August 20, has just been received here. In it she says the viceroys are expected to unite to avenge the wrongs of China. They are ordered to raise taxes, enroll troops, and ordered to prosecute the war upon the allies.

The whole edict breathes defiance and undying hatred of foreigners. She explains to the viceroys that the court fled from Pekin because it was feared that the Christians would kill the Emperor.

WAITING ON RUSSIA.

Washington, Sept. 4.—A very interesting dispatch was received today, at the War Department, from General Chaffee. It described the military situation as eminently satisfactory, and would have been of great value, but for the omission peculiar to all of the other official dispatches from China, namely, the date line. However, taking into consideration the fact that a cablegram was received by the State Department today, dated five days ago, from Mr. Conger, the conclusion was reached that General Chaffee's dispatch also was sent from Pekin about August 29 or 30. General Chaffee asks a very important question as to the withdrawal of the American troops. The answer to that question, it is said, might have been found in the State Department's answer to the Russian evacuation proposition. But that answer, or rather a synopsis of it, was not cabled to General Chaffee until the 13th ultimo, and it is assumed, allowing for the same time in transmittal as was consumed by General Chaffee's dispatch received today, the synopsis has just reached him. When the American answer to the Russian proposal was made public, it was stated here that General Chaffee had been instructed some time before by telegraph just what course to pursue in the matter of retiring from Pekin in the event of the emergency that afterwards arose. This being so, today's application for instructions might be regarded as an indication that he had not received the original instructions when he sent his message.

It is stated that no order has been sent to General Chaffee to leave Pekin as the result of any recent development. In fact it would seem that the War Department is not able to instruct him more specifically on this point until the decision of the powers relative to general evacuation is known. It was stated at the War Department that our position is unchanged; if Russia withdraws her troops then General Chaffee will do the same. But we will not act unless there is a general agreement, or Russia actually does withdraw her troops. Meanwhile it is gathered that conditions in China are disordered and foreign life and property are still unsafe.

The dispatch received from Minister Conger was gratifying to officials, in that it contained the date of Pekin, August 30, as an integral part of the messages, this part in cipher. The text of the Conger dispatch was not made public, but it was authoritatively stated that it did not change the situation, and was devoted somewhat to expressions of opinion. It was authoritatively stated in this connection that Minister Conger will remain at his post until further orders. Up to this time he has expressed no wish to be relieved.

Mr. Hill Troubled With His Eye.

While out driving a few days ago Mr. W. S Hill was struck on the eye by a small twig. The blow caused considerable pain, of course, but nothing was thought of it at first. Instead of improving, however, the eye grew worse, until it is causing Mr. Hill a great deal of pain and trouble.

NEWS ITEMS.

The auditing board of Wilmington yesterday ordered payment to be made for the press of The Daily Record, destroyed there during the revolution of 1898. The machine did not belong to Editor Manley, the negro, but was leased by him.

Managers of Mr. Bryan's Eastern campaign believe they have discovered a Republican plot to capture West Virginia and Kentucky by a wholesale colonization plan by the importation of negroes.

Two policemen have been killed in St. Louis by electric shocks sustained while they were using the police telephone and 11 other officers injured in the same manner.

John D. Rockefeller has made Spellman Seminary, a negro college of Atlanta, a present of $180,000. The money has been paid into the treasury of the American Baptist Home Mission Society of New York, which institution has charge of the college.

As a result of a meeting held by Rev. J. W. Little, at Waxhaw, in Union county, the dispensary management of that place closed up the business, and the town reverts to a condition of prohibition.

Rev. Alybert Dallman, pastor of the German Lutheran church, in Worden, Ill., was recently instructed by his congregation to get a wife. He went to Peoria in search of one, and met, woed and won Miss Emma Eichborn, daughter of a prominent citizen, all in two days.

The Tobacco Crop a Disappointment.

A well known farmer in town today tells The Telegram that the tobacco crop is very disappointing. The crop is not only short, but the tobacco is curing up very poorly. The farmers lay much of the blame for this condition on the drought.

J. R. JOYCE THE NOMINEE.

WILL MAKE RACE FOR CONGRESS.

R. D. Douglas Nominated for Elector—Republican Congressional Convention Met Today for Third Time and Succeeded in Transacting the Business for Which it Was Called.

The Republican Congressional Convention for this district met today for the third time within the past three months. Unlike the other two conventions, however, the business for which the delegates were called together was performed, candidates for Congress and elector being nominated.

There was some disposition to again adjourn without making any nomination, but after several hours spent in caucus it was decided to put out candidates. The names of several gentlemen were mentioned for the Congressional nomination, and some of the delegates appeared to be right much at sea, but before the convention was called to order it was learned that Mr. J. R. Joyce, of Reidsville, would receive the nomination.

The convention was called to order at 2:50 by Chairman J. T. Donaho, of Caswell, Mr. Junius Harden, of Alamance, acting as secretary. The temporary organization was made permanent. When nominations for Congress were declared in order the names of Messrs. J. R. Joyce, of Rockingham, and R. J. Petree, of Stokes, were placed before the convention. Mr. Joyce was nominated on the first ballot, receiving twenty votes and Mr. Petree four. The nomination was made unanimous.

Messrs. R. D. Douglas, of Greensboro, and C. D. Turner, of Hillsboro, were placed in nomination for Elector. On the first ballot Mr. Douglas was nominated, receiving nineteen votes and Mr. Turner five. On motion of Mr. N. W. Brown, of Orange, the nomination of Mr. Douglas was made unanimous.

The nominees addressed the convention, expressing their thanks for the honor conferred upon them and promising to be heard from on the campaign.

Resolutions endorsing the McKinley administration and condemning Congressman Kitchin were adopted.

The following were made members of the District Executive committee:

Alamance county—J. T. Fogleman.
Caswell—J. T. Donaho.
Durham—P. J. O'Brien.
Granville—P. P. Hester.
Guilford—O. A. Starbuck.
Orange—N. W. Brown.
Person—L. H. Daniel.
Rockingham—J. T. Martin.
Stokes—R. J. Petree.

HEADQUARTERS MOVED.

Republicans Come Up Street and Throw a Flag to the Breeze.

Republican headquarters have been moved into the Tate building, over Cartland's tailoring establishment, where four rooms are occupied. A torn and soiled flag, which has done duty in other campaigns, was today hung from the corner of the building.

At present not a great amount of work is being done at headquarters, Secretary Hyams and one or two clerks only being in attendance. When Senator Pritchard arrives and the campaign opens in earnest the force will be increased.

Moonlight "Drives."

A party of young people from South Greensboro fled from the cares of city life last evening and enjoyed a moonlight drive—in hack, buggy and trap—to the Battle Cround. There were fifteen in the crowd and a most delightful time was had by all—as may be judged from the fact that some of them did not return till sometime after the midnight hour.

Those composing the party were: Misses Daisy Hunt, of Richmond, Va., Ruby Glascock, Carrie McNairy, Maggie Kelly, Sallie Love, Bertha Jones; Messrs. N. W. Brown, of Hillsboro, C. E. Brower, L. L. Glascock, T. A. Glascock, J. M. Philips, C. C. Hudson, Will Phipps, B. S. Barnes.

A Ball Park.

An excellent ball park is to be provided for at the Fair grounds. The space inside the race track will be graded and put in first class condition, making a splendid place for either football or baseball.

There will be one or more games of football during Fair week.

WILL CLOSE TONIGHT.

The Meeting at Westminster Has Resulted in Much Good--Mr. Little's Fine Work.

The services which have been in progress at Westminster church for the past ten days will be concluded tonight. The subject of the closing sermon will be "The Danger of Delay."

A good congregation was present last night to hear a most solemn and impressive sermon on "The Outcome of Sin," the text being a part of the twenty-third verse of the thirty-second chapter of Numbers: "And be sure your sin will find you out." This sermon was pronounced by those who heard it as the best of the series of good sermons which Mr. Little has preached during the meeting.

The subject of the sermon at the 11 o'clock service this morning was "Confessing Christ." Mr. Little announced as his text Luke 12:28, "Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before the angels of God."

These meetings have already resulted in much good, and it is hoped that the fruits of them will continue to ripen for many days to come. Christians have been revived, and sinners have been converted. Since the meeting began about sixteen have indicated that they were seeking the way of life by remaining for the inquiry meetings, and about twelve of this number have made bright professions of faith in Christ as a personal Saviour.

No better testimony to the appreciation by the Greensboro people of Mr. Little's good preaching could be given, than that which has been afforded by the large attendance upon every evening service. Notwithstanding the extreme hot weather, the church has been well-filled at every night service.

Mr. Little will leave for his home on the early train tomorrow morning, followed by the prayers and best wishes of many who have been helped by his faithful preaching.

YORK OUT OF JAIL.

He Furnishes Bond and Returns to His Home in Randolph.

J. L. York, who was arrested and jailed in Fayetteville some days ago on a charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes, has furnished bond and returned to his home in Randolph county to await a preliminary hearing on the 12th inst. The Fayetteville Observer says:

"J. L. York walked out of jail at exactly eleven o'clock today, dressed in the height of fashion. He wore a brand new $40 tailor-made grey suit, patent leather shoes and other things to match. He was leaning on the arm of his father, smoking a fine cigar and chatting pleasantly. His father arrived here last night on the delayed train from Greensboro, and this morning he appeared before United States Commissioner Morrisey and gave the $1,000 bond, proving the required $3,000 property qualification."

DISASTROUS FIRE IN ASHEBORO.

Property to the Value of $25,000 Destroyed—But Little Insurance.

News of a disastrous fire in Asheboro was received here this afternoon. The Asheboro Wood and Iron Works were burned, causing a loss of something in the neighborhood of $25,000, with insurance to the amount of only $6,000. Asheboro has no water supply and there was no possible chance of extinguishing the blaze.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

The Asheboro Wood and Iron Works was one of the principal industries of the town, and its destruction will be a great loss.

FIRE UNDER CONTROL.

Special Dispatch to The Telegram.

Asheboro, Sept. 5.—Fire broke out here today about twelve o'clock. The Asheboro Wood and Iron Works and a large amount of lumber were burned, also several box cars and a part of the railroad track. At three o'clock the fire is under control.

Another Sale of "Purps."

Chief Scott announces that on Friday morning at 9 o'clock he will have another auction sale of dogs upon which the tax has not been paid. About 15 dogs, of various breeds, have been impounded, and these will be placed on the block unless reclaimed before the hour of sale.

MARYLAND CAMPAIGN OPENS.

Col. Bryan and Senator Wellington Make Speeches.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 4.—The opening of the Democratic campaign for the states of Maryland and West Virginia, at this place tonight, was rendered memorable by the appearance on the same platform of the Democratic national standard-bearer, Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, and United States Senator Geo. L. Wellington, who was elected as a Republican. Both these distinguished gentlemen were in good voice and both spoke with their accustomed force. Senator Wellington's speech marked his formal renunciation of the party ties, on account of the issues growing out of the war with Spain. He had for this reason prepared his speech with care and he read it from type-written manuscript. Mr. Bryan spoke without notes and he appeared at the meeting almost immediately after the arrival of his special train.

TIME IS UP.

Will the Bootblacks Form a Trust on the Price of Shines?

About a year ago the Board of Aldermen adopted an ordinance imposing a license tax of $3 a year upon each bootblack in the city. The subjects of the tax registered a mild kick at first and attempted to form a combination, putting the price of shines at 10 cents. The combination was soon broken, however, and the only difference noticeable was a reduction in the number of bootblacks, which was the object aimed at by the Aldermen.

A year has expired and the tax is again due, but the bootblacks seem to be in no hurry to pay it. So far only two or three have renewed their licenses, and if the others don't soon come to time these will be in a position to form a trust that will put all other combinations to shame.

Poisoning in Stanly County.

Dr. S. J. Love, a young physician living in Stanly county, died yesterday afternoon from the effect of arsenic poisoning, administered in food at his father's house last Friday afternoon. On Friday Mr. Love had his wheat threshed, and following the usual custom, furnished dinner for the large party of laborers operating the threshing machine.

Mr. and Mrs. Love, Dr. Love, who lived with his parents, and his brother and sister, dined with the large party of threshers. The meal was the ordinary bountiful repast for such an occasion, and was prepared by the family assisted by neighbors. Within 15 minutes after it had been eaten Dr. Love became violently ill, suffering with intense nausea. His mother, sister and brother and five of the threshers also became sick with the same symptoms. Though suffering greatly the latter were not at once prostrated and were taken to their homes; and have since been pronounced out of danger.

It is evident that Dr. Love swallowed a larger quantity of the poison than any of the sufferers; and his case was alarming from the first. His nausea was not relieved until twenty-four hours after he was sick, and by this time he was so completely exhausted that he never rallied—sinking gradually until the end. The condition of his brother and sister has improved and Dr. Austin is sure that they will soon be well again. Their mother, Mrs. Thos. Love, continues dangerously ill and her recovery is doubtful. Mr. Thos. Love was unaffected by the poison

The poisoning was that of arsenic, but how it came into the food is a mystery.

School Examinations.

Superintendent Grimsley spent a few hours at the Lindsay Street School building this morning examing new students who will enter Friday. Quite a number who have not heretofore attended the city schools were examined.

Tomorrow morning, From 8:30 until 11 o'clock, Superintendent Grimsley will be at the Asheboro Street School for the purpose of examining and grading pupils.

Mr. A. L. Waters and family, formerly of Goldsboro, have moved into one of Hodgin's flats, on South Elm street, and will make Greensboro their future home.

A man from New York is here to establish one of a chain of "New York 5 and 10 Cent Stores." He could not find a vacant store, but says he will get one some how.

The Republicans from here, who attended the meeting of their State committee at Greensboro, returned today. Carl Duncan says the committee took up the first district affair and decided to call a convention to nominate a candidate for Congress. Duncan evidently thinks this a knockout for Isaac M. Meekins, who got, or claims he got, the nomination. Duncan thinks it was by a "rump" convention, and that Meekins is no nominee at all. Meekins on his part says the "machine" of the party is controlling or trying to control the whole business.

The Republicans have so far held conventions and nominated congressmen and electors in only three districts—the seventh, eighth, and ninth. They now say they will hold them in the other districts also, and nominate a candidate in each one of them. It would be interesting to known how many Populists will fall in ranks along-side the Republicans this year on national issues.

Senator Pritchard will return from New York in a few days. He will, as State chairman, have headquarters at Greensboro. but proposes to take the stump. The retirement of Chairman Holton was unexpected here.

The chairman of the corporation commission, speaking of the evidence being taken by the railways in the $10,000,000 tax assessment case, says, "I do not think the railways have made out their case. They contended that property other than that of railways was uniformly and designedly assessed under its true value." He went on to say he believed the investigation of these cases would consume the six months allowed; half to the State and half to the railways. About a month of the time allowed to the railways is gone.

The August report of the State treasury was issued today and shows receipts of $197,469, including $90,000 dividend for the North Carolina railway, $54,000 taxes from counties, and $25,000 taxes from railways. The disbursements were $118,000 including $29,000 interest on the public debt and $15,000 to the penitentiary, out of the appropriation to that institution.

The State crop pest commission met yesterday and heard the report of Gerald McCarthy, the State entomologist. This was to the effect that there is yet San Jose Scale in some nurseries; that J. Van Lindley, for one nursery, had destroyed its infested trees and that the other nurseries were generally willing to take the same step. Van Lindly two years ago destroyed 60,000 infested trees near Southern Pines for the same reason.

AL. G. FIELD OPENS THE SEASON.

The theatrical season will open with the Al. G. Field Big minstrels A better selection could not be made. It will start the season with a crowded house, which we sincerely hope will be he good fortune of all the meritorious attractions that visit our city this season.

Good attractions generally draw good houses. Al. G. Field never falls to draw big houses. He has a fine show and the people recognize the fact that it is a clean, wholesome entertainment. Mr. Field has spared neither pains nor money in bringing together the grandest array of talent ever seen with an organization of this character. Heading the list of famous features are those marvels of the art acrobatic, the Famous Faust Family, doing a new act of seemingly impossible feats. They are undoubtedly the most famous people in their line. They are great in every sense of the word, in fact a great feature with a great show. There are many other great people with the Al. G. Field Big Minstrels, in fact it is a company of great people. Knetzer, the master spirit of ambidexterity, who is the greatest artist in his line of business the stage has ever known, is also featured with this great show. Not the least attractive feature of the Al. G. Field Big Minstrels is M. E. Gates' concert band—a musical organization that has among its members many soloists. This band gives two grand concerts each day, one during the parade at 11:00 a. m and another at 7:00 p. m. in front of the opera house.

THUNSDAY will be time enough to have the little ones eyes examined. Don't neglect this very important duty. See Drs. Moore.

OPENING OF THE CITY SCHOOLS.

All the city public schools, except No. 5, white, will open on Friday September 7, at 8:30 o'clock. Children from 6, to 21 whose parents or guardians live within the city limits will be admitted free of charge for tuition. Others will be admitted upon the payment of tuition fees in advance.

The Superintendent will be at the Lindsay Street school on Wednesday September 5, from 8:30 to 11:00 a. m. and at the Asheboro Street school during the same hours on Thursday, September 6, for the purpose of examing and grading all new white pupils.

The work begins on the first day. It is very important that all children enter on the first day and continue in school every day.

TO CURTAIL PRODUCTION.

The Recommendations Made by the Committee Regarding Cotton Yarns.

Charlotte, Sept. 4.—The board of aldermen wrestled last night with the all absorbing question of what action to take in the case of Alderman Allen of waterworks fame.

The board spent considerable time in discussing the matter, some being for immediate action but it was finally decided to leave the matter with a committee consisting of the two remaining aldermen of Mr. Allen's ward, the First. In the meanwhile Mr. Allen and the other bathers will be given a hearing before the Criminal Court which convenes the latter part of September.

The board of governors of the Southern Cotton Spinners adopted two exceedingly important reports last night—one recommending the establishment of not more than ten commission houses to handle the product of the Southern Yarn Mills, the other recommending a curtailment of production for the next sixty days.

The first report was that of the committee of three appointed some months ago to investigate a new selling agency plan. This committee reported in part: "After a careful analysis, both of the plan of direct selling and concentration of business into the hands of a limited number of commission houses, would recommend as an improvement on exisiting conditions that the business be concentrated into the hands of not exceeding ten commision houses, and beg to advise you that we had a conference with a number of the leading commission merchants, 80 per cent. of those consulted, have agreed to co-operate with us in this plan and to conduct the business on a basis of 4 per cent. commission." "We further beg to advise, that we have in preparation a letter which will contain full details regarding the proposition to concentrate business, a copy of which will be mailed to every cotton yarn mill in the South. The second report adopted was that of the special committee recently convened in Philahelphia. This report reviews the fact that there are three matters of paramount importance which confront the cotton manufacturer of today, when one of which of itself would be sufficient to bring about a stagnant state of business. One of these is now existing Chinese difficulty.

Second. The coming presidential election.

Third. The as yet undetermined size of the new cotton crop.

Far-seeing business men realize that the next ninety days will reveal the size of the cotton crop, and it is believed that the unpleasant state of affairs that now exist in China will have been straightened out. Consequently there is every reason to believe that by January 1st, 1900, the business affairs of the country will be in a most prosperous condition.

As a result of our review (in Philadelphia) we have decided to recommend that wherever it is practicable a curltailment of production be made during the next sixty days and feasible that this curtailment be made for the full period of sixty days.

We would recommend further that all shipments cease unless spinners have orders for shipments.

For hot weather a drink that is particularly healthful and pleasant, especially to invalids and children, is made of oatmeal. Put into a large earthen bowl or jar one-quarter of a cupful of oatmeal, one-half of a cupful of granulated sugar and one-half of a lemon cut into small pieces. Pour over the mixture a gallon of boiling water and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Let it stand until it is cold. Fruit vinegars may be used to flavor this in place of the lemon.

COLD STEEL OR DEATH.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure stomach and liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at C. E. Holton's drug store

The Old Possum Hunter Tells About a Wildcat Scrimmage and How, After He Thought He Had the Old Woman Licked, She Silenced Him.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

"One evenin," said the possum hunter of Tennessee, "as me an the old woman sot smokin our pipes on the doah-step an feelin at peace with the world, she suddenly says to me:

"'Zeb, do yo' know why the preacher didn't stop with us when he was 'long yere two weeks ago?'

"'Bekase he stopped with Jube Taylor,' says I.

"'He stopped thar, but he wasn't gwine to till he heard what yo' had said. Then he got mad an wouldn't step foot over the doah.'

"'An what did I say?'

"'Yo' was blowin round that yo' didn't believe the whale swallered Joner. 'Peared that yo' wanted to start a fuss with somebody. What's that whale an Joner got to do with yo'?

"MEBBE THE WHALE SWALLERED JONER."

What's the matter that what's good 'nuff fur Elder Hopkins an everybody else round yere ain't good 'nuff fur yo'?

"'But I ain't a-believin the story. How's a man gwine to live right on arter he's bin swallered by a whale?'

"'That's none of our bizness,' she says.

"'But I'm makin it my bizness,' says I. 'What don't seem likely to me I ain't gwine to believe in.'

"'But yo' might keep shet about it an not raise a fuss. Who air yo', Zeb White, that yo' disputes the Bible?'

"That started the row," said the old man, "an we had some purty hot words. I said I didn't believe the story, an she said she didn't keer whether I did or not, an we was sassin away when we heard a cry up on the hillside. It was sunthin like the cry of a child, an the old woman gits up an listens an says:

"'Zeb, thar's a leetle child wanderin about in the bresh. Jest hoot two or three hoots to draw it this way.'

"The cry come ag'in, an then I knowed what it was. It wasn't no lost child, but a prowlin wildcat. I hadn't heard one fur two y'ars, but I was dog suah of the game. I'd hev told the old woman, but she got mad bekase I wouldn't hoot an called me names. When the third cry comes, she says to me:

"'Zeb White, that must be Joe Baker's leetle boy Jim, an he's wandered two miles away from home. If yo've got a heart in yo'r busum, yo'll go up the mounting an find him an bring him down in yo'r arms.'

"'I ain't huntin fur lost boys,' says I as I fills my pipe.

"'Then I am. I'll go up thar myself.'

"'Better not.'

"'But I will. Befo' the Lawd, but I don't know what's come over yo', Zeb. Fust yo' go an deny that the whale swallered Joner, an then yo' won't move hand or foot to save an innercent child from perishin. Mebbe yo' air gittin ready to turn Mormon an run away from me?'

"'I ain't takin wild varmints fur lost boys,' says I as the scream come ag'in.

"'It's no wild varmint. It's the voice of leetle Joe Baker, an he must be skeert almost to death of the darkness. Yo' sot right yere like an old mewl, an I'll go up an find him. I'm thankin the Lawd yo' hain't got no children of yo'r own.'

"With that she grabs up a stick an starts up the hill. While I knowed that a wildcat was roamin round, I didn't think the old woman would come to any hurt. I hoped the cat would yell out an skeer her, an so it was ten minits befo' I follered on. She went pushin through the bresh an callin to Joey, an now an then the cat cried out in answer. I was doin a heap of laughin to myself when the old woman calls back to me:

"'Come on, Zeb! I've dun found the child!'

"'Then bring him along,' says I.

"'I can't. He's up a tree. Zeb, did yo' ever hear of a lost boy climbin a tree?'

"'Not skassly, but mebbe they do it.'

"'An his eyes are shinin like two coals of fire. I never knowed that lost children's eyes looked that way at night.'

"I knowed the cat had clumb a tree an was lookin down at the old woman, an I had jest opened my mouth to cry out a warnin when the cat hissed an growled an rattled the bark with her claws. That was 'nuff. The old woman gin a yell an started to run, but at the fust move she fell over a log. I reckon that cat must hev bin mighty mad 'bout sunthin, fur she screamed out an jumped to the ground an in two jumps was on the old woman's back an usin her teeth an claws like sin. I grabbed up a club an mixed in, but at the fust blow the club broke, an the cat turned on me. Lemme tell yo' sunthin 'bout wildcats. If yo' was to be pitched into a hole on top of fo'teen buzzsaws, it wouldn't be as bad as hevin a row with one full grown wildcat. She would gin me a bite an then gin the old woman a clawin, an thar was no gettin away from her. We had to fight fur our lives, an I never did sich fightin in all my days. We'd hev both bin done up except that I dashed the cat ag'in a tree an stunned her, an while she lay thar we fled to the house an locked the doah. We hadn't skassly got in befo' the critter was screechin round, an, not bein able to git at us, she went round to the shed an bit an clawed my old mewl till he was no good all winter.

"We was a dreffal sight to see when we got into the house—me an the old woman. We was in tatters an kivered with blood, an we jest fell down an laid thar. I was the worst hurt, but I hadn't got over bein mad yit. Bimeby I sot up an says:

"'Mebbe the whale swallered Joner, an mebbe he didn't?'

"The old woman groaned with her bites an didn't say a word.

"'Mebbe Zeb White has a right to his opinyun, an mebbe he hasn't?'

"She groaned ag'in, but she hated to give up.

"'An mebbe Zeb White has sense 'nuff in his head to know the yeowl of a wildcat from the cry of a leetle child? If yo' think he hain't, then yo'd better tree some mo' lost boys.'

"'What's the argyment, Zeb?' she asks as she sits up with tears in her eyes.

"'The argyment is, Kin I hev my opinyun 'bout Joner an the whale?'

"'I'm considerin that yo' kin.'

"'An am I a man to leave an innercent child to perish in the bresh?'

"'Not skassly.'

"'An air yo' still thankin the Lawd bekase we hain't got no children?'

"'I don't believe I am.'

"'An, lastly, air yo' gwine to fly up mad bekase I say them lions orter hev eaten Dan'l when he was cast befo' 'em?'

"'I'll argy the p'int, Zeb.'

"'Then that's all. I'll light another candle, git out the coon's fat an some rags, an we'll see if we can't patch each other up an git along fur a month without no mo' fussin.'"

"And so it ended all right?" I asked of the old man as he finished his story.

"I thought it had," he replied, with a sigh. "I thought I had the old woman licked an was gwine to boss the cabin from that time on, but we was both still limpin from our hurts when I happened to mention that them people never crossed the Red sea dry shod, an she turned on me an got me by the ha'r, an I had to take it all back an shet up like a clam." "DOING ONE'S BEST."

Success of Those Who Take This For a Motto.

A homely rhyme found in an old fashioned jingle book imparts a sound philosophy:

Thoughtful little Mary Wood
Always did the best she could.
Let us follow Mary's plan,
Always do the best we can.

At the first glance this looks very easy, still, most of us know that there are days when we do not by any means attain to so high a standard. To do one's very best implies that one has a conscience that will not be satisfied with half measures, that one has more than the average amount of good health and that one's ideal is a lofty one. Most of us start off splendidly when we begin anything new. The real testing time comes when the novelty is worn off and we are tired and begin to carry the load wearily.

The old proverb, "A new broom sweeps clean," would never have been spoken if the invariable custom of the world had always been to do the best on all occasions. The great cathedrals of Europe were built slowly through the ages by men who did their best. The great explorers and investigators in science have done their best. Whatever the work, if it is worth doing at all, it is worth doing well.

The person who has a reputation for accuracy and for punctuality, whose work is always thorough and whose name stands for the best he can do, never need fear that he will not find room at the top.—Harper's Bazar.

Bogus Coffee Berries.

Unroasted coffee berries are often made from oat and rye flour and cornmeal. The natural aroma of these grains is destroyed by some process, and after the proper amount of coffee aroma is added the berries are formed and caused to maintain their shape by some adhesive substance.

A Misleading Motto.

"I was down in Charleston, W. Va., recently," said a business man, "looking after a contract, and I noticed a funny thing.

"You know," he went on, "that the motto on the great seal of West Virginia is a Latin lingo something like 'Montana nil non est exto,' meanin 'Mountaineers are always free.' Well, sir, they slap that state seal all around their capital, and as I was going into the penitentiary I looked up and saw it over the door. There it was 'Mountaineers are always free.'

"It may be more cheering to the convicts to read that than the old slogan, 'Abandon hope all ye who enter here,' but it's a blasted lie on the face of it at that, for I saw plenty of mountain men wearing the stripes once I got inside."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"The Latin Lady."

Countess Louise Erdody, who has just died in Vienna, was known as "the Latin lady," her great aim in life having been to see that language once more the international means of intercourse. She had mastered it in a wonderful degree, and her hobby brought her to destitution, for in pursuing it she neglected her estate, which became involved in a lawsuit lasting 30 years, and was used up in legal expenses.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Aug. 12.

Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhœa, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

WATER FILTRATION.

"No large city," says the Philadelphia Record, "is absolutely free from typhoid, but the number of victims is few where the water supply is amply protected. Like Philadelphia, Paris has been slow to decide on installing a filtration system. It has been definitely determined that it is possible to purify the water of the largest cities from all bacteria by filtration. No public sanitarium will deny that the thousands of people who have died of typhoid fever in this community in the past five years were needlessly sacrificed by the failure to exclude the germs from the water supplied to the public. The Paris officials are as much to blame for the many deaths from the same cause in that city. Even the horses of the French capital have suffered from epidemic typhoid, Pasteur having demonstrated that the microbe is identical with that which produces the fever in human beings.

"Since there can be no further doubt about the efficacy of filtration it is the duty of every municipality to protect its people by the earliest possible establishment of an adequate system. It is urged that New York city could filter its water for much less than the cost of the proposed new supply. There are already 152 cities in which the death rate has been reduced by the filtration of the water. Considering the expense to a community of preventable sickness it is economy to adopt an effective means of water purification."

It is not only a matter of economy for a city to adopt effective means of water purification, but it is its duty in the highest sense of the word to thus protect the health of its citizens. This is a case in which the citizen is unable to protect himself, and there is no greater crime which a municipality can perpetrate against its citizens than to delay or dally in furnishing a pure water supply.

In Lincoln Park, Chicago, is to be erected a large bronze statute of John Brown, in one hand holding a drawn sword in the other a negro child. It is surprisingly ridiculous how some of our northern brethren "take on" over this crack brained law-breaker. There is Newell Dwight Hillis, one of the best intellects in the pulpit today; yet he chooses to class John Brown along with such men as Washington, Jefferson, Lee, Grant, and others. It is difficult to understand how any one can hold such an idea of this red-handed murderer.—Durham Sun.

In his book of biography, Mr. Wise, whose father was Governor of Virginia when the fanatical murderer made his raid upon Harper's Ferry, says that the sympathy, endorsement, and moral support that the criminal received from the North, did more to arouse the indignation and to dishearten Virginians than anything else. And this disciple of murder and outlawry and treason finds endorsement to this day.

If the report of Secretary Hay's disagreement with Mr. McKinley is true and he is in temporary retirement on account of this, the best head in the cabinet is now idle.

Asheville is to have an auditorium and Raleigh and Winston are moving for one each. Greensboro will have one

If Li is sassy already what will he be later on?

We are with the foreigners in Shanghai in opposition to a lenient policy towards China, especially official China. Already the Chinese newspapers are boasting of the way the Europeans were beaten. Withdraw from Pekin now, and to the Chinese mind all these claims will be fully substantiated, and further outbreaks and horrible tortues of foreigners invited. We are sorry that the selfish interests of Russia have apparently secured the support of the United States in the proposition to withdraw the troops from the capital before negotiations are consumated.

A Slight Discrepancy.

There is some discrepancy between the statements frequently made that women are becoming indifferent to marriage since their entrance into business and the fact that a man who advertised for a wife received a thousand applications. His advertisement was not a gaudy and picturesque "personal," but an unadorned statement that a farmer with six children wanted a wife. Such an advertisement does not appear alluring, yet 1,000 pairs of eyes, falling upon it, found a suggestion of the poetry of "home." Let pessimists and the carping critic of the new woman take the lesson to heart. The average woman works for wages only when necessity compels and gladly drops the business life when a home is offered by the average man. The artistic temperament is the only exception to this rule. The woman with an inborn love for music, painting or writing finds that the supreme interest in her life and may refuse the responsibilities of family cares that would interfere, but mere business has no such hold.

Many people assert that the principal reason women do not marry, but go into business, is because men have become too selfish to care for family life and too restless to be contented in it. The sophisticated young man prefers the unrestricted ease of bachelor life. Marriage involves duties, and duty is not a popular word.—New York Tribune.

What to Talk About.

"The subjects of entertaining conversation are of course multiplied by increased knowledge of books, of the world of men and women, music, art and travel," writes Mrs. Burton Kingsland in Ladies' Home Journal. "One should be familiar with the current news of the day and the topics occupying public attention, with the names and authors of the new books and be able to say something worth hearing about what one has read and heard. Many get no further in speaking of a book than that it is dull or interesting. Others give in few words what seems to be its central idea, its characteristics, the time and scene of its action, quoting perhaps some sentiment that has impressed or witticism that has pleased. True culture carries with it an atmosphere of breadth—the world and not the village. A woman lacking it was said to betray by her conversation a mind of narrow compass, bounded on the north by her servants, on the east by her children, on the south by her ailments and on the west by her clothes. The mind grows shallow when occupied perpetually with trivialities. A course of solid reading is a good tonic. When ignorant of our ignorance, we do not know when we betray ourselves."

Lovely Bridal Gown.

One of the very smartest wedding gowns sent out from Paris recently was that of Mlle. de Stael, whose marriage to the Count Orloff-Davidoff was one of the smartest events of the London season. The bride is the daughter of the Russian embassador to England, and consequently the wedding was attended by royalty and conducted with almost imperial pomp. The bridal garment was very simple, very rich and very costly. The gown was of white satin opening down the front over a petticoat of almost priceless lace. The draped bodice fitted the bride's slender figure to perfection, the crossed over corsage front being intwined with a cluster of artificial orange blossoms so effective that even on close view it was difficult to discover that they were counterfeit. A coronet of orange flowers knotted the long tulle veil to the bride's head, the veil being, in accordance with present usage, thrown back from the face. The going away gown was of pale gray cloth with a tucked glace bodice and was trimmed with cluny lace and gold buttons.—Paris Letter.

Horseshoes.

Horseshoes are of uncertain date and have caused some discussion among military historians. Nailed shoes were not known by the Greeks, for Xenophon gives minute instructions for hardening the hoof. Nor did the Romans use them. Nero had mules shod with a plate of silver fastened by crossed thongs to the hoof. With Poppæa, his later wife, it is said these plates were of gold. The earliest positive evidence of nailed shoes is furnished by the skeleton of a horse found in the tomb of Childeric I (458-81) at Tournay in 1653.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

FIENDISH MURDER OF WOMEN.

CRUEL TORTURE OF MISSIONARIES.

The Story of the Outrages and Torture is Learned From Official Sources By the Associated Press—Several of the Unfortunate Women Were Americans—Inconceivable Torture.

Copyright Associated Press—Shanghai Sept. 4.

The European community continues to demand the destruction of Pekin and the punishment of the officials, deeming indemnity and paper promises inadequate. Undoubtedly the information in detail of massacres of foreigners daily received inflames this sentiment.

The Dowager Empress is living in the yamen at Tai Yuan Fu, in Shan Si Province. Fifty missionaries have been slaughtered in that yamen under orders, practically in the presence of the Viceroy. Three were beheaded in the inner court and the others were killed barbarously in the outer court yard. Their bodies were thrown to the dogs.

The Empress has ordered a commission to investigate the conduct of the Southern Viceroys who made a compact with the foreign consuls and their degradation is expected. No investigation of the officials opposed to foreigners has been ordered.

The Associated Press representative learns from official sources the facts of the killing of several American women missionaries. At the request of the mission board the details were withheld out of regard for the feelings of the relatives of the murdered women, but other prominent Americans, who have long antagonized the policy of sending women to isolated inland posts think it important that the facts should be known. The names of the victims are withheld by request. Two of these women were captured while attempting to leave the stations where they were located, were led about the country naked, repeatedly outraged and finally killed by a method too revolting to be described. Two other American women were coming to the coast with a party which a number of number of Chinamen followed and stoned. The women fell exhausted and were taken by the Chinamen into the presence of the local officials. They were prostrated upon the execution block and a feint was made of beheading them. One of them became hysterical and laughed, and thinking her insane, the Chinese escorted her to the coast because of their superstition regarding the insane. On the journey, however, the woman was repeatedly criminally assaulted by her escort. The other woman, after being exhibited naked for some days and suffering assault by several men, was tortured to death by the same shameful methods as were practiced in the other cases. Two Swedish missionary women arrived at Shanghai after similar experiences, except that their lives were spared.

The foregoing are matters of official record.

The fourteen English missionaries, including six women and four children who were murdered at Chu Chau, in the province of Che-Kiang, according to the story of a Spanish priest who escaped, were killed with hay forks and ancient spears by the magistrate's body guard, and their naked bodies were hanged from trees.

The incidents make a lenient policy unpopular in Shanghai, where all the victims had friends.

Placards appeared today in all public places exhorting foreigners to oppose a compromise with the government and attacking Li Hung Chang.

ALL SHORT OF WIND.

NOT A MAN IN TOWN COULD BLOW UP TO SEVEN POUNDS.

Pap Perkins, the Postmaster of Jericho, Tells About the Meeting Which Discussed the Advisability of Starting a Brass Band.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

"Look here, pap," said Squar Johnson as he dropped into the postoffice one day when I was alone; "I've got a scheme on hand that'll do more to boost the town of Jericho to the top of the ladder than 40 miles of new sidewalk. Yes, sir, it's a boomer, and if it's carried out you'll see the price of real estate jump 50 per cent."

He waited fur me to git my breath and then lowered his voice and continued:

"Pap, I've got a notice written out fur all patriotic citizens of Jericho to assemble at the postoffice this evenin, and I'll post her up on the door. I want to spring it on 'em all of a sudden. I want to see 'em turn pale and their hair stand up. Jest say to all inquirers, pap, that Jericho is comin right to the front like a steer goin fur a cornfield."

I wanted to know what the scheme was, but the squar winked and nodded and looked mysterious and went off without givin his secret away. There was a great deal of curiosity durin the day. Some thought the squar had a balloon ascension in view in order to attract public attention to our new cooper shop, and others had it that he had found a way to dodge the state tax, but it was all guesswork. There was a tremendous crowd on hand when evenin came, and the squar went around rubbin his hands together and smilin all over his face. When he had got the crowd worked up to the pitch where everybody wanted to die fur liberty, he called the meetin to order and said:

"Feller freemen of Jericho, we hev here a beautiful town, a salubrious climate and a populashun to be proud of. We hev the best of water, the lowest of taxes and skassly any use fur doctors. We hev the telephone, electric doorbells and a town pump. A stranger would look around him and say we needed nuthin else. But we do, and that is why I hev called you together here tonight. We need jest one thing more to put Jericho on the pinnacle, and that is a brass band."

"By John, but he's made a p'int!" said Deacon Spooner as he whacked on the counter with his cane. "Yes, sir, Jericho needs a brass band to boost her, and I'm with the squar. Let us hear what Moses Hopkins has to say about it."

"As I take it," said Moses, "a brass band plays tunes, and I'd like to know in advance what sort of tunes this band is goin to play. If it's goin to play 'The Sweet By and By,' then I'm in fur a band. If it's goin to play hiddle-diddle tunes, then I'm ag'in it."

"That's a p'int as fur as it goes," said the deacon, "but it don't go fur 'nuff. Enos Williams, you was in the hog buyin bizness fur 20 years, and you ought to know about brass bands. What d'you think of the idea?"

"That depends," said Enos. "I don't go much on a brass band that toots its wind all over town and wastes it on the air. If we had a band that would come down to the depot to meet me as I come in from Tarrytown, I think I'd kind of like it."

"By John, but he's right, and he's made a p'int!" shouted the deacon.

"I don't see the p'int," said Squar Johnson as he colored up. "Why should our brass band go down to the depot to welcome a man who hain't never done anything in particular fur Jericho? Enos is a good 'nuff man in his way, but did the outside world ever hear of him? Was he consulted about buildin the new sewer or paintin the town hall? Has he ever laid awake nights thinkin how this town could be boosted to the top?"

"Enos, he's knocked your p'int out and made one ag'in you," said the deacon, "but we'll hear from some of the rest. How is it with you, Jabez Fowler?"

"I can't exactly say till I know what the band is goin to do," replied Jabez. "My old woman is mighty fond of brass band tunes which lift up the heels, and if the band'll come over to my house three times a week and give us sunthin lively I'll chip in."

"Mebbe I'm mistaken in this crowd," said the squar as he looked around in a serious way. "Mebbe this is a crowd composed of freeborn Americans whose forefathers fought at Bunker Hill, and mebbe it's made up of men who'd steal the statue of Liberty and sell it fur old junk. To say that I am astonished does not half express my feelin's."

"That sellin the statue of Liberty is a p'int, and a strong one," said the deacon, "but what we want is a free expreshun of opinion. Jube Hornbecker looks as if he wanted to say sunthin."

"I'd like to ask the squar," said Jube in his humble way, "if he expects that band to meet him at the depot when he comes home?"

"Bein I hold the posishun I do," answered the squar, "bein I'm referred to as the leadin man in Jericho, if the band wanted to go down and see me off or wanted to be there to welcome me home I don't reckon anybody would find fault."

"But I'd want the same thing," said Ebenezer Scott. "I ain't no justice of the peace, but my dairy is milkin 28 cows this summer, and I feel I'm as big as anybody. I go over to Dobbs Ferry once in two weeks, and I should want that band to toot me off and toot me home ag'in."

"There may be a p'int," said the deacon as he scratched his ear, "but I don't skassly see it. Mebbe the squar wants to say sunthin further about liberty and Bunker Hill?"

"I'm sayin," replied the squar as he heaved a long sigh, "that patriotism and love of country seems to be deader'n a doornail in these United States. Mebbe there's a man in this crowd aside from me who'd be willin to shed his blood that our glorious republic might be saved from ruin and desolashun, but if thar be I can't name him. You might as well disperse to your homes and tell your wives and children that Jericho is doomed."

"By John, but what a p'int—what a p'int!" whispered the deacon. "Before we bust up and go to ruin, however, I'd like to hear from Reuben White. Reuben's bin as far west as Detroit, and he ought to know what influence a brass band has on a town."

"The influence of a brass band is accordin to the leader," said Reuben. "I've seen 'em where they jumped a town right to the front in four weeks, and I've seen 'em where they killed things dead in two. The leader wants to be a pecoolier sort of a man. He wants to be born fur the place, same as Washington was. He wants to be ready to die at two minits' notice or to live fur a hundred years."

"And mebbe you think you're that man?" queried the squar as he pounded on the counter with his fist.

"I do. I know I am. I'm the only man in Jericho as kin lead a band to success and make the town hump herself. I'm a self sacrificin critter, as you all know, and if this meetin thinks best"—

But the meetin shouted him down, and it was five minits before Deacon Spooner could make his voice heard, and then he said:

"There's more p'ints bobbin up here than you kin shake a stick at, but we might as well hev one more. S'posin we hear from Lish Billings. He's the only man in Jericho who kin play on an accordion. What d'you say, Lish?"

"There's mighty little to be said and nuthin to bust up the country," answered Lish. "Do any of you sons of Bunker Hill know how much wind it takes to blow a brass horn?"

Nobody did, and a hush fell upon the crowd.

"It takes ten pounds, reckoned by a lung tester," said Lish, "and you'd want an extra pound fur walkin up hill. There was a lung tester man in town two weeks ago, and every son of us handed over a nickel and took a blow. We blowed and strained and blowed, and Rube White was one of 'em who blowed a sole off his boot, and yit no man reached seven pounds. Whar you goin to git your wind to blow them horns?"

There was a painful silence while you could count a hundred, and then Deacon Spooner said:

"By John, but I'm goin home and tell the old woman that I don't know beans when the bag's untied, and the rest of you'd better do the same thing!"

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

KOREAN WOMAN DOCTOR.

Mrs. Pak, Who Graduated Recently From a Woman's Medical College.

Mrs. Pak, who was graduated from the Woman's Medical college of Baltimore in June, is the first Korean woman to receive a medical education. Although the last weeks of her study were divided between that work and nursing her husband, who was ill with consumption, she finished the course with honor. After Mr. Pak's death, which occurred soon after her graduation, she returned to Korea, where she will work as a medical missionary among her own people. Mrs. Pak's first instruction was received at the Methodist school in Seoul, and she subsequently went to Nagasaki, Japan, for more advanced teaching than that school could give. Although her husband was not at that time a Christian, he sent her to the latter school and paid her expenses while there.

Mrs. Ha of the Methodist Training school in Washington is also a Korean. The picture of Mrs. Pak was taken in her wedding costume.

The Women of China.

The important work of woman, we believe, is in the home. This does not mean that we think women are fit only to do housework. On the contrary, most of our housework is done by men. Among foreigners who have experience in our country it is a saying that the Chinese cook is second only to the French, and the Chinese house servant is second only to the German serving man. The work of woman among us is to bear children, and it is desired that she shall be free from the burden of toil, so that she may have time and strength to rear her family well and to make her home happy. The Chinese mother is most anxious for the welfare of her children, watching them with great care as they grow up. She attends to the education of the daughters, and the father directs the education of the sons. The family tie is very strong among my people, and the love and attention which parents give to the bringing up of children are equaled only by the veneration and respect which children show toward their parents. This family love is part of the nature, the religion, the history and tradition of China.—Mme. Wu in Harper's Bazar.

Girl Who Keeps Cool.

She doesn't fuss about the weather.

She doesn't drink innumerable glasses of soda water.

She doesn't spend her time bemoaning the unkind fate that keeps her in town.

She doesn't go down town shopping at noon or thereabouts.

She doesn't put in the day hovering around the ice cooler.

She doesn't consult the thermometer every five minutes.

She doesn't do any more work than is absolutely necessary.

She does wear her lightest, coolest dress.

She does eat fruit and easily digested, nonheating food.

She does hunt up the coolest and shadiest place to be found and there abides.

Badge of Identification.

Chicago has evolved an idea. The police of that breezy city are strenuously endeavoring to impress upon mothers that no child should be allowed to go out of doors without an identification badge sewed somewhere on its clothing. The idea might be adopted with advantage in other cities. Scarcely a day passes in any large city on which at least several children are not lost. The family starts on a frantic search and generally wastes hours before applying for police aid, while the child may be crying somewhere in a police station. If the identification badge with name and address was on the child, the policeman would have taken it home long before and saved much worry.

Has a Hard Job.

Miss Gail Laughlin of New York has been appointed by the government to investigate "the servant girl problem." She has evidently a somewhat roving commission, in keeping with the roving character of those whom she is to investigate. Probably Miss Laughlin will accumulate a vast quantity of statistics regarding the number of places first class girls can fill.—Woman's Journal.

TRAINING WATCHDOGS.

The Method That Is Used by a German Instructor.

Although it is generally believed that watchdogs are "to the manner born," it seems that a certain amount of training helps very much to turn out a really good one. This system of training has developed into a regular business in Berlin, where one Herr Straus has an academy from which watchdogs are turned out by the hundred every year.

His system is educational and is applied to almost every kind of dog. He first teaches the animal obedience by training it to perform certain "tricks" at command and then trains it to distinguish between a visitor and a burglar and what part of a man's body should be attacked to render the man helpless.

Outside of the gate the trainer places a dummy representing the burglar, and to the latch is attached a string. By means of the string the gate is opened slowly, until the head of the dummy becomes visible, when the dog is taught to fly at its throat. Herr Straus is very particular about this. He makes his dogs attack the throat or the upper part of the body always. Sometimes a real man well padded takes the place of the dummy, and of course he is well paid for his services.

All dogs, it seems, may be made good watchdogs, but the St. Bernards and the Russian wolfhounds are the best where property of great value is to be guarded. For dogs not so fierce as they are a different system of training is used. They soon learn to guard anything committed to their care, but are not so quick to attack an intruder as the fiercer dogs are.—Philadelphia Times.

A wedding ring should fit the finger. If it is too large, it is a sign of shallowness of purpose; if too tight, it suggests that the union pinches somehow. A perfect fitting ring is symbolic of a perfect, harmonious union.

Learn to keep your ears open and your mouth closed.—Dallas News.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought that she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. Kings New Discovery, saying that it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c. and $1.00. "HE'S MADE A PINT."

That's What the Deacon Would Say When Reading these.

Her friends in this city will regret to know that Mrs. J. R. Weatherspoon continues quite sick at her home in Sanford.

A "divine healer" struck town this afternoon. He sits like a cigar Indian on a box in front of J. W. Scott & Co's store.

The Al. G. Fields Minstrel Company came in from the North this morning, going to Raleigh. The troupe traveled in two special cars.

Floyd Reese, a young man who makes his home with Jailer Reese's family, was paralyzed last night and is in a serious condition.

A number of young ladies have passed through Greensboro enroute to Winston-Salem to enter Salem Female Academy and College, which opens today.

Evangelist C. C. Cecil will preach tomorrow night at the mission on South Elm street, near the residence of Mr. Thornlow. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. N. L. Hall will shortly commence the erection of a handsome residence on a lot he recently purchased on the corner of Summit avenue and Charles street.

You are invited to attend the services at Westminister church tonight at 8 o'clock. This service will be the last of the series of special services which have been in progress for the past ten days.

The North Greenboro W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'cock, in Mrs. Gorrell's parlor. The meeting will be of unusual interest, and all members and others interested in temperance are cordially invited to attend.

Captain J. H. Walsh, Secretary of the Central Carolina Fair, is receiving a great many requests for copies of the premium list. He is also corresponding with a number of people who wish to provide attractions during the week.

His friends will be glad to learn of the continued improvement of Mr. Archie Sykes, Gardner's prescription clerk, who has been sick of fever at his home in Fayetteville for several weeks.

Dr. Walter L. Hilliard, who resided in Greensboro for a few months about two years ago, died at the home of his mother in Asheville yesterday. He was a brother of Rev. S. H. Hilliard, a former pastor of West Market Street Methodist church.

Wants the Dog Nuisance Abated.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

Now that there has been quite a discussion in regard to the hog nuisance, I feel it my duty to ask the city fathers to abate the nuisance in regard to the dogs. They are very numerous on East Washington street. Not only numerous, but dangerous, especially at night. One of our neighbor's children was attacked by a vicious dog and severely bruised. Cannot something be done to carry out the ordinance passed by our city council? We would suggest that our officers in power would either shoot them, or make the parties pay tax, and at the same time keep those that are dangerous, tied and placed in security, or our citizens will be constrained to take the law within themselves, and shoot them, and risk the consequences of the law.

ADS ARE NECESSARY.

Nearly every person in business should advertise in the newspapers. City populations grow rapidly, and old residents frequently change their locations. Moreover, business has become specialized. There are dentists who do not draw teeth, lawyers who do not go into court, etc. To learn where to make purchases or where to engage professional or other services one must either consult the advertising columns of the newspapers or making inquiries at random at the risk of receiving doubtful information. Newspaper announcements save both the peo- and the advertisers loss of time.

We acknowledge no competition. The simple plain talk of the mighty dollar together with good value, is our great argument. We have just received a big lot of new fall and winter shoes. Call and see them.
